SENATE REJECTS IT

Arbitration Treaty Fails of Ratification by a Vote of 43 to 26.

SENATOR MILLS' OPPOSITION.

Great Britain Could Have Secured Cuba, It is Said, Under Its Provisions—Senator Carter Also Makes a Pungent Speech in Opposition—Other Important Washington News.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The senate yesterday by a vote of 43 to 26 refused to ratify the general arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain negotiated by Secretary Olney and Sir Julian Pauncefote. The rules of the senate require a majority of two-thirds for the ratification of treaties. Hence four more affirmative votes would have been required to secure a favorable result.

The vote was preceded by a short, spirited debate, introduced by Senator Mills of Texas, who made a strong appeal to the senate against ratifying the agreement. He asserted that as amended the document was most objectionable, not to say contradictory in terms. He pointed out especially the provisions in regard to the territorial claims and asserted that whereas the amendment adopted by the senate to the first article of the treaty declared against their inclusion, the sixth and eighth articles made provision for them. He held that as long as these articles remained unchanged England justly could claim that question of the territorial rights were still included within the scope of the treaty. Under such circumstances, he asked, what was to prevent England from purchasing the island of Cuba or any other American territory and in case of objection on the part of the United States, insisting upon the reference of the dispute to arbitration. He spoke of the conduct of England in connection with the Greco-Turkish war and implored the senate to protect the United States against the proposed alliance.

The speech made a visible impression and the opinion was general that the treaty should be amended so as to remedy the inconsistency explained. Senator Tillman asked that time be given for such amendment but Senator Carter interposed objection. He made a very pungent speech in opposition. He said there could be no doubt of the partiality of the government and the people of the United States toward the settlement of disputes by arbitration, and that for this reason there never would be any difficulty in securing an agreement for arbitration of any specific dispute with any nation, but it was not necessary for our people to tie themselves in an agreement of uncertain scope and purport, especially with a country which had shown itself so completely out of sympathy with the feelings of the people of the United States in the position England had taken in European affairs. Mr. Carter advised the senate to let well enough alone.

Senator Hoar replied briefly, going over the general agreement in favor of the treaty and contending especially that the objection of inconsistency in regard to territorial claims was not well founded. Senator Davis, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, declined to express an opinion for publication but talked freely with his friends. To them he attributed the defeat to the feeling of dissatisfaction at England's course in the struggle of the Greeks to liberate the island of Crete from Ottoman dominion and with the "evident" designs of Great Britain upon the Transvaal. At the conclusion of the proceedings, all of which were in executive session, the senate refused to authorize the publication of the details.

was then taken up and discussed during the morning hours after which the senate went into executive session on the arbitration treaty. The open session was again resumed late in the day and before completing the civil sundry bill the senate adjourned.

dent that the Greeks have met with a great success.

"There has been great slaughter at Pharsalos, where the battle is proceeding. Crown Prince Constantine telegraphs as to the engagement at Velesino: 'With God's help, our side has conquered.'"

The Athens correspondent of The Times says: "Simultaneously with the attack at Velesino, the Turks attacked the Greek outposts at Tatar, near Pharsalos. It is said that both attacks have been repulsed by the Greeks. General Smolenski says: 'The brigade at Velesino is deluged with blood.'"

Battle Today Inevitable.

PHARSALOS, May 6.—The correspondent of the Associated Press says that the Greek line was attacked yesterday by a Turkish force of 20,000 infantry in addition to artillery and cavalry. Colonel Makris commanded the Greek left wing and Colonel Mavromichalis the right wing. Both repulsed the Turks with great slaughter. The railway station was destroyed by the Turkish shells and railway communication between this point and Volo is interrupted. Preparations are being made with the utmost activity for the battle, which seems inevitable today (Thursday).

Turks Repulsed at Velesino.
LONDON, May 6.—A dispatch to The Daily News from Velesino dated yesterday says: "The Turks today were repulsed after five hours of fighting with a heavy loss. Simultaneously Edhem Pasha's main force engaged the Greek outposts at Pharsalos and the fighting lasted from 2 o'clock until night, both armies retaining their original positions."

COMPETITOR CASES.

It is understood that the government is "favorably disposed" and that the result of the trial in their case will be a release. It is stated that Alfredo Laborde has not been able to prove his American citizenship.

Twelve Hundred People in the Burning Grand Bazaar of Charite at Paris—Horrible Scenes Witnessed by Those Trying to Save Their Friends From a Terrible Fate.

PARIS, May 6.—A somber feeling prevades every class of society. The newspapers without exception, describe the disaster at the Grand Bazaar of Charite in the sober and simple terms befitting the appalling event of Tuesday evening. The catastrophe will always be remembered as one of the most fearful that ever befell a European city. Nothing comparable in loss of life has ever occurred here, except the fire which destroyed the Opera Comique in 1857.

Singularly enough that disaster happened in the same month of the year, and 80 persons were burned to death, while 45 were officially registered as missing. In aristocratic circles the numberless dinner parties and other functions of a gay opening season have been suddenly abandoned.

It is now estimated that there were about 1,200 persons in the building when the fire was discovered about one-half of whom escaped unhurt. Some estimates place the number of dead at 143, others at a still higher figure.

The amount of administrative negligence surrounding the catastrophe is almost inconceivable. The structure was so combustible that many of the victims, if not most of them, must have been burned alive, without suffocation. No sort of inspection seems to have been made in advance by the municipal or police authorities or by the prefect of police.

Mrs. F. B. Gilmore of New York had a narrow escape. She had consented to act as a saleswoman at the stall of Mme. Costa Beauregard. She left the Hotel Terminus, where she was staying, accompanying Vicomtesse Savigny. The sale was going well, when suddenly her maid cried: "Madame, save yourself. There's a fire."

Saved by Her Presence of Mind.
Mrs. Gilmore, with wonderful presence of mind, rushed toward the main entrance, but, seeing the danger of being trampled to death, she ran quickly back to the rear of the building, where she saw a window that opened in the wall, through which she soon reached the street.

Monseigneur Clari, the Papal Nuncio, who had attended to pronounce his blessing upon the bazaar, says he was talking to the Duchess d'Alencon at 10 minutes to 4 o'clock. He adds: "Around me was a group of blind children. Several of these must have perished."

Dr. Nachtel, who has directed the ambulance work, says that the number of bodies found gives a very inadequate idea of the number of victims, as dozens were burned completely to ashes.

Mother's Devotion.
M. Jean Raffaelli, the painter, says: "My daughter had the mark of a heel stamped into her back. She was trampled in the heap at the door near the main entrance. Her mother tried to pull her from the blazing fire, but she said: 'It is useless, save yourself, as I shall die in any case.' Her mother replied: 'I shall not leave you. I will take you or stay and die with you.' Both escaped though severely injured."

The Abbe Marbot says that the Comtesse Villeneuve returned to search for her two daughters, but failed to find them and perished herself.

M. Lefevre, the prefect of police, who is severely censured for lack of proper supervision of the preparatory arrangements, says in excuse that the patrons and patronesses of the bazaar were reactionists and he feared, if he meddled with their programme, that they would say he was trying to suppress a Roman Catholic enterprise.

Identifying the Duchess d'Alencon.
Particulars regarding the finding of the remains of the Duchess d'Alencon, show that the secretary of perfection, accompanied by the maid of the duchess and a footman examined the rooms of bodies. The two servants stopped before a blackened and mutilated corpse, whose abdomen was torn open. They declared that it was the remains of their mistress and also sent for the dentist of the duchess. The latter and two doctors operated upon the upper jaw and then the dentist was able to formally identify the remains as being those of the Duchess d'Alencon.

Terrible scenes continued to be enacted at the Palais de l'Industrie yesterday afternoon. The mother of 4-year-old Alfred David, one of the victims, arrived during the day for the purpose of taking the body away with her. It was decided, however, that it was inadvisable to show her the ghastly remains of her child. When this news was communicated to the unfortunate mother, in a paroxysm of grief she tried to force her way into the mortuary hall, screaming: "I will see my child."

It was found necessary to forcibly remove the poor woman, whose case is one of the most distressing. It appears that Mme. David lost her husband a month ago and that her only child died a fortnight ago.

Late last night the police officials announced that 94 corpses had been positively identified. There are 19 bodies still unidentified.

Last night such theaters as were open were almost empty, and the large cafes on the boulevards are practically deserted.

LOUISVILLE, May 6.—In the presence of a large number of distinguished delegates and a crowd of interested spectators the third annual conference of the National Municipal League and the fifth meeting for good city government began late yesterday in the exchange hall of the board of trade. President Hartwell of the local Good City Government club called the meeting to order and introduced Mayor Todd, who, in a happy speech, offered the welcome of the city of Louisville. The response for the delegates was made by Mr. Ochs of Chattanooga, who introduced Clinton Rogers Woodruff of Philadelphia, whose address was "Review of Municipal Reform During the Past Year" and embodied his report as secretary of the National Municipal League.

CINCINNATI, May 6.—In addition to his shortage of about $60,000, it is found that County Clerk George Hobson is also guilty of forgery. The examiners have discovered the name of Robert West on his payroll at $1,500 per year. West left the office over a year ago. The examiners expect to find other forged names on the payroll. Hobson is very sick at his home. As soon as he recovers it is stated that he will plead guilty.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out, and this tube restored to its normal condition or hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75 cents. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

GHASTLY FIND.

Creates a Sensation in the Southeastern Part of Town.

Late yesterday afternoon while Barney Claycamp and James Ritchey were cleaning a private vault in the southwestern part of the city, they found in the vault a well matured colored child which had evidently been thrown there soon after birth. This morning they reported the matter to the officers and the body of the child was brought to Husted's morgue and an investigation at once begun. The result has been to cause considerable excitement in that part of town, and it is expected that a startling sensation will follow.

The coroner is taking evidence this afternoon.

Poisons engendered by food fermenting in a dyspeptic stomach are the direct cause of rheumatism, gout, bronchitis, liver and kidney complaints, asthma, pneumonia and many nervous ailments.

These results are prevented by the use of the Shaker Digestive Cordial, a remedy discovered and prepared by the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, N. Y. It is in itself a food and has power to digest other food taken with it. Thus it treats the diseased stomach and finally masters the worst cases of dyspepsia. It acts promptly and fresh strength and increase of weight soon follows. The first dose taken immediately after eating, abates the pain and distress so dreaded by dyspeptics. Trial bottles—enough to prove its merit—10 cents. Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in the place of Castor Oil.

NOBLES' REVENGE.

HE GOT EVEN WITH THE AUTHOR OF THE SPECIAL DELIVERY STAMP.

The Actor's Letter of Congratulations to Postmaster General Vilas Withdrawn For Sufficient Reasons, Which Appear In This Story.

Milton Nobles, the actor and author, and Senator Vilas were schoolmates in Madison 35 years ago, and they went from the schoolhouse to the war together. Nobles thinks a good deal of his old schoolmate and is proud of the distinction he has won among the great men of his party.

When the special delivery stamp made its appearance, Senator Vilas, who was then postmaster general, received many complimentary letters, among them one from Nobles. The rest of the story is best told by the author himself:

"When I wrote this letter of congratulation to the general, I hadn't had occasion to use or receive any of the stamps, but the idea seemed to me to be a good one. I was spending a week at home in Brooklyn at the time. One bitter morning about 3 o'clock I was awakened by what seemed to me to be the ringing of all the fire bells in Brooklyn. Showing my head out of the second story window, I could see a muffled figure on the steps below jerking the bell with savage fury. 'What is it?' I asked. At that moment the bell wire broke, and the figure fell backward down the steps. The snow was knee deep, and the wind was blowing 50 miles an hour. As the figure rolled down the steps I could hear some choice specimens of explosive English in a familiar accent, mingled with some thing about 'letter, special delivery.' After removing chains and bolts I opened the outer door, and the messenger blew into the vestibule in a sheet of snow.

"What is it? What have you got?"

"Letter."

"What the Helen Blazes are you bringing a letter here for at this time of night?"

"Special delivery, sir, please."

"I backed into the hall and slid my hand all over the wall, trying to find the matches. The vestibule was full of snow, and I had commenced sneezing."

"Come in and shut the door!" I yelled. Bang went the door and out went my match just as I had got the gas turned on. The messenger bumped up against me in the dark, stepped on my toes and shook a shovelful of snow off his shoulders about my feet, filling my slippers and dropping down my back. I finally succeeded in lighting the gas, signing the book, pushing the messenger out and bolting the door. Then I went up stairs with my prize. I examined the long blue stamp carefully. It was the first one that I had received. Then I devoted about five minutes to wondering what the dickens it was all about. After a time it occurred to me to open it and see. The handwriting was unknown, but the refrain was familiar. Here it is:

"SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Jan. 18.

"Milton Nobles, Esq."

"DEAR SIR—You will doubtless be surprised at receiving this letter from an entire stranger. But I feel that I was born to be an actor."

"I am but 22, 5 feet 6, light curly hair, blue eyes and have played several parts with the Sheboygan Amateur society. I inclose notices. My family object to my going on the stage, but I feel that it is my duty, and as I would only join a first class company my friends urged me to write to you. Should like to play lovers parts. I saw you play in Milwaukee last fall. Can come any time. I have also written a play. Could you lend me $20? Yours to command, I. ARTHUR JONES."

"P. S.—The new special delivery stamp has just got here, and I put one on to see how it works."

"By the time I had finished reading this letter I had a chill. Three hours later I had such a cold that I could not open my eyes. I remained in my room for treatment for three days. On the fourth day I became convalescent, and the first labor I performed was the writing of the following letter:

"BROOKLYN, Jan. 26.

"Hon. W. F. Vilas, Postmaster General, Washington."

"DEAR SIR—Quite recently, in a moment of unguarded enthusiasm, I wrote you a letter congratulating you upon the brilliant stroke of genius made manifest in the promulgation of the special delivery stamp."

"Recent events have given me a wider knowledge of the subject and opened my eyes to the pernicious consequences likely to follow your gigantic blunder."

"I desire to withdraw my letter and enter a protest against your making any use of the same as an apparent endorsement of your new departure or with a view to your securing a situation in the future. This need not necessarily interfere with our friendship, but to be a sparkling friendship and business the line must be drawn somewhere, and I choose, for reasons conclusive to myself, to draw it at the 3 a. m. special delivery. Very truly yours,

"MILTON NOBLES."

"I cut the special delivery stamp from the Sheboygan letter and pasted it on the envelope, and, inclosing both in another letter, I sent them to a friend in Washington with a few lines of explanation and instruction. The next stormy night my friend, following instructions, hired a special messenger, and at 8 p. m. he began ringing Postmaster General Vilas' doorbell. First a servant came, then the general's secretary, but the messenger was firm; he must see the general. Thinking probably that war had been declared in Haiti and a midnight session of the cabinet called, the general slipped an ulster on over his nightshirt and went down to the door. The messenger shoved the letter into his hand and bolted on a double quick."

"The obnoxious stamp has not been called in, but I had my revenge on the postmaster general."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

John P. McLean's Great Newspaper.

Without a single exception, there is beyond doubt no greater or more popular newspaper in the United States than the Cincinnati Enquirer; or a more successful publisher than its proprietor, Mr. John P. McLean.

The old-time prices for the Daily Enquirer have been maintained, and its circulation largely increased each year; hard times and cheaper journals failing to arrest its onward march and high appreciation of the public for its true worth and merit.

The Weekly Enquirer at beginning of the campaign year was offered at 50 cents a year, and its circulation increased by the addition of over 200,000 new subscribers; the most substantial and coveted testimonial a publisher could desire.

When asked for the secret of such success, Mr. McLean frankly answers: The Enquirer has no opinions to force upon its patrons, it simply prints the facts and tells the truth that the reader may form his own opinions. By maintaining the price of the paper, more news and greater variety can be furnished, and every class of business interests catered to, which a cheaper journal cannot afford.

The very liberal support given the Enquirer by the public at large, makes incumbent upon the management to serve it faithfully with zeal and enterprise in minor matters as well as those of greater magnitude.

Gridley Bryant, a civil engineer, in 1826, projected the first railroad in the United States. It was built for the purpose of carrying granite from the quarries of Quincy, Massachusetts, to the nearest tidewater. Its length was four miles, including branches, and its first cost $50,000. The sleepers were of stone and were laid across the track eight feet apart. Upon rails of wood, six inches thick, wrought-iron plates, three inches wide and a quarter of an inch thick, were spiked. At the crossings stone rails were used, and as the wooden rails became unserviceable they were replaced by others of stone.—May Ladies' Home Journal.

His wife did not approve of Mr. Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the Balm thoroughly and in an hour's time was able to go to sleep. COURSING LIZARDS.

The Amusement of a Tame Eagle in the Arizona Desert.

In St. Nicholas Wolcott Le Clear Beard writes of "Moses, a Tame Eagle," which was one of his pets while he was engaged in engineering in southern Arizona. Mr. Beard says he was very fond of the lizards with which these plains abounded, and one large variety, called swifts, from their remarkable speed in running, seemed to be especially coveted.

Whenever one of these was caught, which was not often, Moses would be brought out, and after the swift had taken a ten foot start, would be set free. The lizard would promptly resolve itself into a white streak across the desert, and, screaming with excitement, half running, half flying, Moses would pursue, followed by the laughing crowd, of which only those on horseback had much chance of keeping up. It was in no sense a cruel sport. It amused Moses and us and didn't hurt the swift, for he got away every time, and if the feelings of our pet were a trifle injured as he returned, perched on some one's wrist or saddle horn, from his fruitless hunt these were speedily soothed by the prompt gift of a nice bit of fresh beef, so no one was the worse. The lizards, however, he seemed to view as a sort of desert, and as he could absorb an unlimited quantity they were always in demand.

A certain stick kept on the veranda of our office was generally under his eye, and when any one picked this up and started for a walk across the desert Moses would hop gravely along behind, sure that some of his favorite dainties would soon be forthcoming.

Of course Moses was perfectly well able to catch the smaller kinds of lizards for himself, but there was less exertion in allowing some one else to do it for him, and exertion at this period of his life was a thing to which Moses was violently opposed. These occasions were almost the only ones when he would be silent for any length of time, for he seemed to understand perfectly that at the first note of his voice every lizard within hearing would run for its life to the nearest refuge, and only when a blow of the stick failed for the second or third time to reach its mark would he give utterance to his deep disgust at such clumsiness.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out, and this tube restored to its normal condition or hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Poisons engendered by food fermenting in a dyspeptic stomach are the direct cause of rheumatism, gout, bronchitis, liver and kidney complaints, asthma, pneumonia and many nervous ailments.

These results are prevented by the use of the Shaker Digestive Cordial, a remedy discovered and prepared by the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, N. Y. It is in itself a food and has power to digest other food taken with it. Thus it cures the diseased stomach and finally masters the worst cases of dyspepsia. It acts promptly and fresh strength and increase of weight soon follows. The first dose taken immediately after eating, abates the pain and distress so dreaded by dyspeptics. Trial bottles—enough to prove its merit—10 cents. Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in the place of Castor Oil.

'NOBLES' REVENGE.

HE GOT EVEN WITH THE AUTHOR OF THE SPECIAL DELIVERY STAMP.

The Actor's Letter of Congratulations to Postmaster General Vilas Withdrawn For Sufficient Reasons, Which Appear In This Story.

Milton Nobles, the actor and author, and Senator Vilas were schoolmates in Madison 35 years ago, and they went from the schoolhouse to the war together. Nobles thinks a good deal of his old schoolmate and is proud of the distinction he has won among the great men of his party.

When the special delivery stamp made its appearance, Senator Vilas, who was then postmaster general, received many complimentary letters, among them one from Nobles. The rest of the story is best told by the author himself:

"When I wrote this letter of congratulation to the general, I hadn't had occasion to use or receive any of the stamps, but the idea seemed to me to be a good one. I was spending a week at home in Brooklyn at the time. One bitter morning about 3 o'clock I was awakened by what seemed to me to be the ringing of all the fire bells in Brooklyn. Shoving my head out of the second story window, I could see a muffled figure on the steps below jerking the bell with savage fury. 'What is it?' I asked. At that moment the bell wire broke, and the figure fell backward down the steps. The snow was knee deep, and the wind was blowing 50 miles an hour. As the figure rolled down the steps I could hear some choice specimens of explosive English in a familiar accent, mingled with something about 'letter, special delivery.' After removing chains and bolts I opened the outer door, and the messenger blew into the vestibule in a sheet of snow.

"What is it? What have you got?"
"Letter."

"What the Helen Blazes are you bringing a letter here for at this time of night?"
"Special delivery, sir, please."

"I backed into the hall and slid my hand all over the wall, trying to find the matchsafe. The vestibule was full of snow, and I had commenced sneezing.

"Come in and shut the door!" I yelled. Bang went the door and out went my match just as I had got the gas turned on. The messenger bumped up against me in the dark, stepped on my toes and shook a shovelful of snow off his shoulders about my feet, filling my slippers and dropping down my back. I finally succeeded in lighting the gas, signing the book, pushing the messenger out and bolting the door. Then I went up stairs with my prize. I examined the long blue stamp carefully. It was the first one that I had received. Then I devoted about five minutes to wondering what the dickens it was all about. After a time it occurred to me to open it and see. The handwriting was unknown, but the refrain was familiar. Here it is:

"DEAR SIR—You will doubtless be surprised at receiving this letter from an entire stranger. But I feel that I was born to be an actor. I am but 22, 5 feet 9, light curly hair, blue eyes and have played several parts with the Sheboygan Amateur society. I inclose notices. My family object to my going on the stage, but I feel that it is my duty, and as I would only join a first class company my friends urged me to write to you. Should like to play lovers parts. I saw you play in Milwaukee last fall. Can come any time. I have also written a play. Could you lend me $20? Yours to command, L. ALEXANDER JONES.
(Stage name—E. Forrest Melnotte.)
"P. S.—The new special delivery stamp has just got here, and I put one on to see how it works. J. A. J.

"By the time I had finished reading this letter I had a chill. Three hours later I had such a cold that I could not open my eyes. I remained in my room for treatment for three days. On the fourth day I became convalescent, and the first labor I performed was the writing of the following letter:

"Hon. W. F. Vilas, Postmaster General, Washington:
"DEAR SIR—Quite recently, in a moment of unguarded enthusiasm, I wrote you a letter congratulating you upon the brilliant stroke of genius made manifest in the promulgation of the special delivery stamp.
"Recent events have given me a wider knowledge of the subject and opened my eyes to the pernicious consequences likely to follow your glaucous blunder.
"I desire to withdraw my letter and enter a protest against your making any use of the same as an apparent endorsement of your new situation in the future. This need not necessarily interfere with our friendship, but between friendship and business the line must be drawn somewhere, and I choose, for reasons conducive to myself, to draw it at the special delivery. Very truly yours,
"MILTON NOBLES.

"I cut the special delivery stamp from the Sheboygan letter and pasted it on the envelope, and, inclosing both in another letter, I sent them to a friend in Washington with a few lines of explanation and instruction. The next stormy night my friend, following instructions, hired a special messenger, and at 3 p. m. he began ringing Postmaster General Vilas' doorbell. First a servant came, then the general's secretary, but the messenger was firm; he must see the general. Thinking probably that war had been declared in Haiti and a midnight session of the cabinet called, the general slipped an ulster on over his nightshirt and went down to the door. The messenger shoved the letter into his hand and bolted on a double quick.

"The obnoxious stamp has not been called in, but I had my revenge on the postmaster general."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Obliging.
"Madam," said Meandering Mike, "hev ye got any cold coffee?"
"No," replied young Mrs. Torkins in a tone of sympathy, "but you wait a few minutes and I'll put some in the refrigerator and cool it for you."—Washington Star.

Coroner's Conclusions.

As was stated in the REPUBLICAN yesterday Coroner Jas. H. Green has been gathering evidence relative to the infant found in vault in south west part of town. Autopsy conducted by the coroner and Dr. Monroe revealed the fact that the child was not still born. Other evidence goes to show that the child's life was taken before it was thrown into the vault.

The coroner is still taking evidence which may yet lead to the apprehension of the guilty parties.

Henry Jones Pays the Penalty of Mur-

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., May 7.—The second hanging that has occurred in the state prison here since the law requiring that criminals should be executed in the penitentiary was passed, took place this morning at daylight. It was that of Henry Jones, colored, for killing a fellow-convict. Jones was sent here for shooting a man over a game of "craps"
at Indianapolis. Sometime after Jones' incarceration the prosecuting witness was sent up for grand larceny. Jones stole a case-knife from the prison table, chopped it and while at service one Sunday morning he sat behind his victim. Suddenly he arose and reaching over stabbed the man to the heart who had sworn him into the prison. Jones was tried for the crime, convicted and sentenced to hang. The prisoner walked to the scaffold apparently indifferent as to his fate, as he appeared at his trial and since his conviction. Jones' neck was broken.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness
and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out, and this tube restored to its normal condition or hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Poisons engendered by food fermentdirect cause of rheumatism, gout,

These results are prevented by the use of the Shaker Digestive Cordial, a is in itself a food and has power to it rests the diseased stomach and finally masters the worst cases of dyspepsia.

It acts promptly and fresh strength and

Do We Need a New White House.

"Much has been said and written about the inconveniences and inadequacy of the Executive Mansion, and many plans have been proposed to remedy its real or imaginary defects," writes ex-President Harrison in the May Ladies' Home Journal. "Some have proposed to abandon the house as a place of residence, to give it wholly over to official uses, and to build a new home for the president; others suggest to make the house strictly and solely a place of residence, by removing the offices to a suitable new building. It would be a great shame, I think, to divert this stately and historic house to another and a meaner use than that to which it was set apart when Washington laid its corner stone. With the offices out of it, some better provision for the accommodation of the domestics and another large room, with a suitable exit, to relieve the overcrowded receptions, the house would be adequate and altogether creditable."

Bond, the Alleged Forger, Released.

Sheriff Schoelch this morning received notice from Judge Buckingham to release James M. Bond, the alleged forger, from custody on $750 bond, which was furnished by A. J. Bond, father of the prisoner, with the following surety: J.
S. Letsinger, Henry Mullen, Frank Falk and Philip Meeb. The former gentleman resides in this city, and is the father-in-law of young Bond, the other gentlemen, whose wealth is estimated at $30,000, are residents of Brownstown and Seymour. The bond was granted on account of the physical condition of the man, who had to be carried down stairs and out of the jail, and placed in a cab, that he might be taken to the depot, placed on the train and taken to the home of his parents in Columbus.
Prison confinement and brooding over his predicament has left the fellow a physical wreck. Shelbyville Democrat.
